IJC: A Building Block

In its thirty-sixth year, Itawamba Junior College is a growing and prospering community college. While other junior colleges are experiencing a decline in their enrollment, IJC presently has a total of 5900 students. What special charisma does IJC have?

Fulton and Tupelo, both friendly towns, make IJC students feel a vital part of their community.

The professional and departmental clubs at IJC are numerous. These organizations make it possible to meet, work and socialize with people of similar interests.

Religious organizations have a place at IJC, as do several competitive sports programs. Various publications are produced by IJC students who are willing to turn their creative abilities into journalism.

IJC is people — students, faculty, staff, and administration — each working toward a common goal. We're all building a better tomorrow for ourselves, each other and IJC. And one day, we can all look with pride at what we built — and then we can remember what we did together.

Getting Started

Preparation for 1984-85 at IJC began in the summer when pre-registration/orientation was held for a week on both the Fulton and Tupelo campuses. This session gave incoming freshmen the opportunity to plan their class schedules and become familiar with the layout of the campuses, also.

The second week of August brought the first residents to the campus, as the Indian football team and a few other "eager" movers found their places on campus.

Registration was held the following week and with an additional stream of movers came the usual chaos and confusion of "getting started."

However, once the stereos, clothes, TV's, and care bears were settled in their dorm rooms, books had been bought, and schedules were arranged, IJC students were on the way to laying the foundation for a new year.

Below - The first dance of the year was a hit despite problems with the scheduled band. Records were played after a brief delay and the dance was a success after all. Right - The Homecoming Dance brought high attendance with the band Starz performing a number of hits.

Everybody cut Footloose!

Dances are a hit at IJC.

The student affairs department schedules approximately seven dances throughout the year, with a variety of music.

This year a "get-acquainted" dance was held during the first week of school, and when the scheduled band arrived late, records were played and the dance was rescheduled for the following week. Other dances included the Homecoming Dance with the group Starz performing and the eighth annual Monster Mash, sponsored by the Political Science Club on Halloween night.

There were also the Christmas dance in December, the "welcome back" dance in January, and a street dance held during Indian Week in April.

Once we broke the ice and got to know each other,

"They" became "we", and "we" became one.

The first few weeks of school were marked by the usual jitters and confusion of adjusting to a new routine. Freshmen and sophomores alike arrived on a campus of new faces, with a new schedule and a new way of doing things.

But gradually we got to know each other — through clubs and organizations, classes, studying in the library, snacking in the student center, and having supper in the cafeteria every night, we became a family.

Once the ice was broken, new groups of friends formed all over campus. The togetherness we enjoyed made the whole transition easier and gave us great memories of our time at IJC.

With so many events and recreational activities available at IJC, finding time to study is a problem for almost every student.

Some students cram a few minutes before class in the student center or in their cars, and others start studying after midnight the night before a test.

But for those who have study habits of some kind, IJC's library, the Learning Resource Center, is open until 9 p.m. on week nights. Many students find the library the only quiet place with enough space to study and take advantage of its resources several hours per week.

IJC students realize that no matter where or when they study, it is imperative that they do so. Since most college courses cover more in-depth material in a short period of time, the demand for more studying reaches everyone.

"At Home — Away From Home"

Approximately 500 students occupy the 6 dorms on the Fulton campus each year. For those who choose not to commute to class each day and for the athletes and band members who must be on campus for practice, IJC's dorms provide better-than-average accommodations. Comfortable, modern facilities enable students to be "at home — away from home."

The open dorm policy under new rules allows co-eds to visit male students and vice-versa twice monthly.

Open dorms provide the opportunity for students to exercise their maturity while socializing on a less formal basis.

Class: A Learning Experience

Though other aspects of student life seem to come first at times, classes are the magnet that draws us to IJC in the first place. Each hour spent in class brings us one step closer to completing our educations.

IJC's wide range of study fields command a variety of classes to be offered — students may enroll in anything from General Psychology to Stage Makeup to Creative Writing. The computer curriculum has expanded in recent years to incorporate computers in all areas of instruction.

On the Tupelo Campus, a laser/electro-optics class, the first of its kind in the state, opened during the fall semester. The upgrading and expansion of technologies through revised curricula and sophisticat-

Work Study Program Aids Both Campuses

The work study program at Itawamba Junior College which is available on both campuses not only provides invaluable assistance to faculty and staff members, but also gives the student aid for college expenses and work experience at the same time.

Approximately 130 students are involved in the program, which is need-based. Workers are required to spend approximately 10 hours on the job per week and are paid minimum wage. Financial aid officials attempt to place students in areas that suit their interests, with a scope ranging from science labs to athletics managers.

Chieftain Staff

There's something about printer's ink. It gets in your blood. Call it the nose for news or perhaps dedication to a common cause — or it could be an "A" in Principles of Journalism. Whatever the reason or motivating force, a small staff published the Chieftain under insurmountable odds. Equipment problems, a change in editors — each problem making the staff more tightly knit and more determined to produce a quality newspaper — and fourteen issues later, it was worth each effort.

Dramatics

The Drama Club consists of both drama majors and others interested in theatre.

Members were active in the theatre department, assisting in its production as actors and stage hands.

Delta Psi Omega

Delta Psi Omega, the national honorary fraternity for the dramatics, consists of students who had contributed a specified number of hours to the theatre department.

Those invited to join this organization were required to wear a plaque bearing the Greek letters of Delta Psi and dress as a designated character on the final day of initiation. Other "special assignments" were given to initiates by veteran members, often in the student center at the busiest time of the day.

Francaise

The French Club is composed of French students interested in furthering their knowledge of the language and culture of France.

Their major fund-raising project was a food fair held in the Student Center, at which pastries and other French and Spanish foods were sold. Members visited New Orleans during spring break.

Guidance

The purposes of PASTE were to promote early childhood education and to support nursery schools and child care in the area.

PASTE members were Child Development majors whose lab courses involved actual daycare for children of IJC students, faculty, and staff and other children of the community.

The group sold Christmas candy and chocolate to fund a trip to a MACUS meeting in October.

Home Ec Club

The Home Ec Club served to prepare home economics majors for better leadership and more involvement in professional activities. Its main concern, however, was improving the quality of life for families.

The group met twice monthly to plan programs and trips to the district and state conventions of the Mississippi Home Economics Association. The club co-sponsored IJC's beauty revue as a major fund-raiser.

A Halloween Tradition

Approximately 24 spirited members made the Political Science Club one of the more popular and active clubs at IJC.

Under the leadership of Dr. John Hughes, the club held its eighth annual Monster Mash on Halloween night, with radio station WZBR providing music, and door prizes and costume prizes being awarded.

In October the group's entry in the Homecoming campus decorations competition won first prize. Its "Dawgbusters" theme seemed to capture the enthusiasm of the IJC - Holmes game.

In The Spotlight

Modeling Squad members met twice weekly and earned a one-hour credit per semester. They were chosen by judges on the basis of general poise in walking and talking.

Activities included doing runway and mannequin modeling for area retailers, advertising for newspapers, and shows for area clubs. The squad also did mannequin modeling in the Downtown Mall for Vocational Education Week in February. All activities of the modeling squad were mainly public relations-oriented to benefit IJC.

Justice for the Students

The Student Court was organized by the Student Government Association during the 1984 spring semester to hear various judicial cases involving disciplinary action for IJC students.

The court consists of a Chief Justice and six members representative of the student population at IJC.

The court hears cases such as those in which students appealed punishments or decisions made by college officials. They are allowed witnesses and are given time for testimonies before deliberation by the jury. Decisions by the court are, however, subject to the discretion of the President of the College and the Dean of Student Affairs.

Kaleidoscope

Members of IJC's contemporary musical group Kaleidoscope were selected by auditions in the spring and received half-tuition scholarships.

The group held three practice sessions per week, performing popular and country music made famous by such performers as Hall & Oates, Lionel Richie, Madonna, and Lee Greenwood.

Performances were given for area high schools and for several banquets and meetings in the five-county area.

Sophomore Jennifer Gafford has played keyboards for Kaleidoscope for the past two years.

Kaleidoscope members practice a Billy Joel number.

Keys to a Business Future

Phi Beta Lambda, national fraternity for business students, co-sponsored the annual beauty revue as its major fund-raising project.

Approximately fourteen members used these funds to finance their expenses for the leadership conference of Future Business Leaders held in Jackson in March. In addition to attending several general sessions designed to develop leadership, members were involved in business-related competitions against other junior and senior college Phi Beta Lambda organizations.

Mirror Staff

The 1984-85 Mirror originated at the Taylor Publishing Company's yearbook seminar held at the University of Mississippi in June. During the five days at Ole Miss, Betsy Rushing, Sandra Bailey, and Donna Thomas created a theme, devised a cover design, and planned the layout of the entire book. These efforts were rewarded with a blue ribbon award for dedication at a banquet held at the close of the seminar.

The Mirror was thus off to a promising start, and with the beginning of the fall semester came a small but imaginative staff, eager to share ideas. Once sections were assigned and the basics explained, the staff set to work on what would be a 216 page history of IJC. Three deadlines were to be met, and by February 6, the final shipment was completed.

Music Department

The 1984-85 All-American Band was 88 members strong and represented IJC in various events and competitions in the state, in addition to its on-campus performances.

For each home football game, the band presented a halftime show featuring the Indianettes, a 23-member group of dancers. The band also marched in several area Christmas parades and held the 1985 Northeast Band Clinic on IJC's campus in February. During the clinic band members housed participants and presented a concert.

Investigating Orwell's Year

With approximately 65 members, the Upsilon Sigma chapter of Phi Theta Kappa remained one of the most active organizations on campus.

Members attended the regional convention in Meridian, where Upsilon Sigma was elected to the office of reporter of the MS-TN-LA region. This position gave PTK members the responsibility for producing a monthly newsletter for the following year. In March the national convention was held in St. Louis, Missouri. There, members were involved in electing national officers and touring the sites of St. Louis.

Projects of the chapter included a walk-a-thon for the American Cancer Society and sponsoring Phi Theta Kappa's annual Honors Day Ceremony in April. In connection with the national project for the year, a tutoring program was instituted at IJC which allowed students to receive free assistance from fellow students.

Each activity of Phi Theta Kappa was centered around its national theme for the year, "Orwell's 1984 in '84." The IJC chapter invited speakers to attend its meetings and studied various critics' writings on the novel.

Recruiting For IJC

The Indian Delegation is a public relations group consisting of 10 Fulton campus and 6 Tupelo campus students chosen by faculty committees. All members received $200 scholarships.

Both groups met twice weekly for training in personality development and college/career information.

Members of the Indian Delegation gave campus tours to visiting high school students, worked phone-a-thons, and along with IJC officials visited 22 area high schools to answer students' questions about the college and campus life in general. They also served at banquets and receptions and assisted with IJC's displays at area shopping malls.

''The Robber Bridegroom''

IJC's 1984 Spring Musical was presented April 10-13 in the Fine Arts Auditorium. A bluegrass musical-comedy, ''The Robber Bridegroom'' was adapted from a novel by Eudora Welty and set in rural Mississippi.

The story involved the relationship which developed between Jamie Lockhart, played by Lloyd Gross, and Rosamund Musgrove, portrayed by Tina Reynolds. Kim Parker played the part of Clement Musgrove, Rosamund's father, and her mother Salome was played by Suzanne Boren. The production was directed and produced by Bob Tomlinson.

The production included an impressive musical score, with a six-piece professional orchestra and a sixteen-number chorus program. The orchestra, with a combined total of over 180 years experience, remained on stage during the entire performance. Members included Freddy Kennedy, guitarist; Bill Stafford, mandolin player; Bill Mitchell, fiddler; Clay Roberts, bass player; and Joe Taylor, banjo player. The orchestra members were all area businessmen with an impressive list of musical titles and experience.

"The Savage Dilemma"

Directed by Miss Joyce Nicholson and produced by Bob Tomlinson, the theatre department's fall production proved to be a hilarious comedy.

"The Savage Dilemma" was written by James Patrick and set in a home for the mentally-impaired in 1970. The plot centered around the patients' efforts to save the home from financial ruin and Mrs. Savage's search for a place in society. Mrs. Savage, played by Julie Riggs, was a former patient there and vowed to help with finances in return for a safe place to stay. The outrageous personalities of the patients, played by Sharon Donahue, Todd Goode, Melissa Matthews, and Debbie Baker, along with excellent performances from other cast members gave audiences an evening filled with uproarious laughter and hair-raising suspense.

The play was presented October 18-19 in the Fine Arts Auditorium and involved a great number of students and faculty. With a cast of 10 and a production staff of approximately 40 members, the play was successful in drawing large crowds for both performances

Sharing Faith

The Baptist Student Union was designed to help students to grow in their relationships with God. Activities were geared toward personal growth as Christians and as ministers to fellow students.

The group met for Bible study on Monday nights, for morning devotion each day, and for a noonday luncheon each Wednesday.

Their projects enabled members to get involved with local churches and schools through ministry groups such as puppets, drama, clowns, ensemble, and revival teams.

Tools of the Trade

Delta Epsilon Chi, the junior collegiate division of Distributive Education Clubs of America, was one of the more productive organizations on campus.

Along with conducting its annual blood drive, DEC sold candy and small gifts to fund trips to the state and national conferences. There students competed with other colleges in marketing and management-related events, sales promotion competitions and advertising campaigns. In April, 1984 Neal Ellis was a national finalist in the Sales Manager Meeting competition in Kansas City, Missouri.

The IJC chapter also held the title of state officer, with Chris Brangenberg winning the election for president.

Voice of the Students

The Student Government Association's chief goal for the year was to promote spirit and enthusiasm among IJC students. Projects aimed toward this goal included making signs for basketball games, motivating students to participate in Homecoming elections, and sponsoring a formal dance during Indian week. The group also collected money for cancer and monitored the Student Court in its first year of service to the students.

Tupelo SGA

The Tupelo campus Student Government Association members held a car wash and several bake sales as fund-raising activities. The group also handled campus Homecoming elections and conducted a student body survey.

W

Wired For Progress

The Electronics Club is geared toward uniting electronics students to further their interest in the subject and promote leadership in the area.

Creative Writing

The English Club's chief function is to publish "Projections", IJC's literary magazine. Students prepared original writings for the magazine and also submitted material to the Mississippi Junior College Creative Writing Competition.

Careers in X-Ray

The Radiologic Technology students proved to be an impressive group, having conducted generous service projects and several award-winning activities.

The group's major fund-raiser was selling candy, with proceeds funding trips to state meetings. In October the group placed first in a state school exhibit competition using a computer-like design. On Halloween night the Rad Tech students x-rayed candy at the North Mississippi Medical Center for over 400 children as a free community service.

In November the group worked on publicity for National Radiologic Technology week, using radio, newspaper, and billboards. They also planned a trip to Chicago to tour an x-ray manufacturing plant.

1984-85 Cheerleaders:

Recognition at a Price

IJC's cheerleaders not only boost spirit at pep rallies, football games, and basketball games, but also serve as public relations representatives at various college functions. The scholarships they receive are well-deserved, for they spend many hours in practice, making signs, and planning pep rallies.

This year a delightful addition to the squad is the Indian mascot, Donna Land. The mascot makes a grand appearance at every pep rally and game and lets everyone know that it's WARTIME!

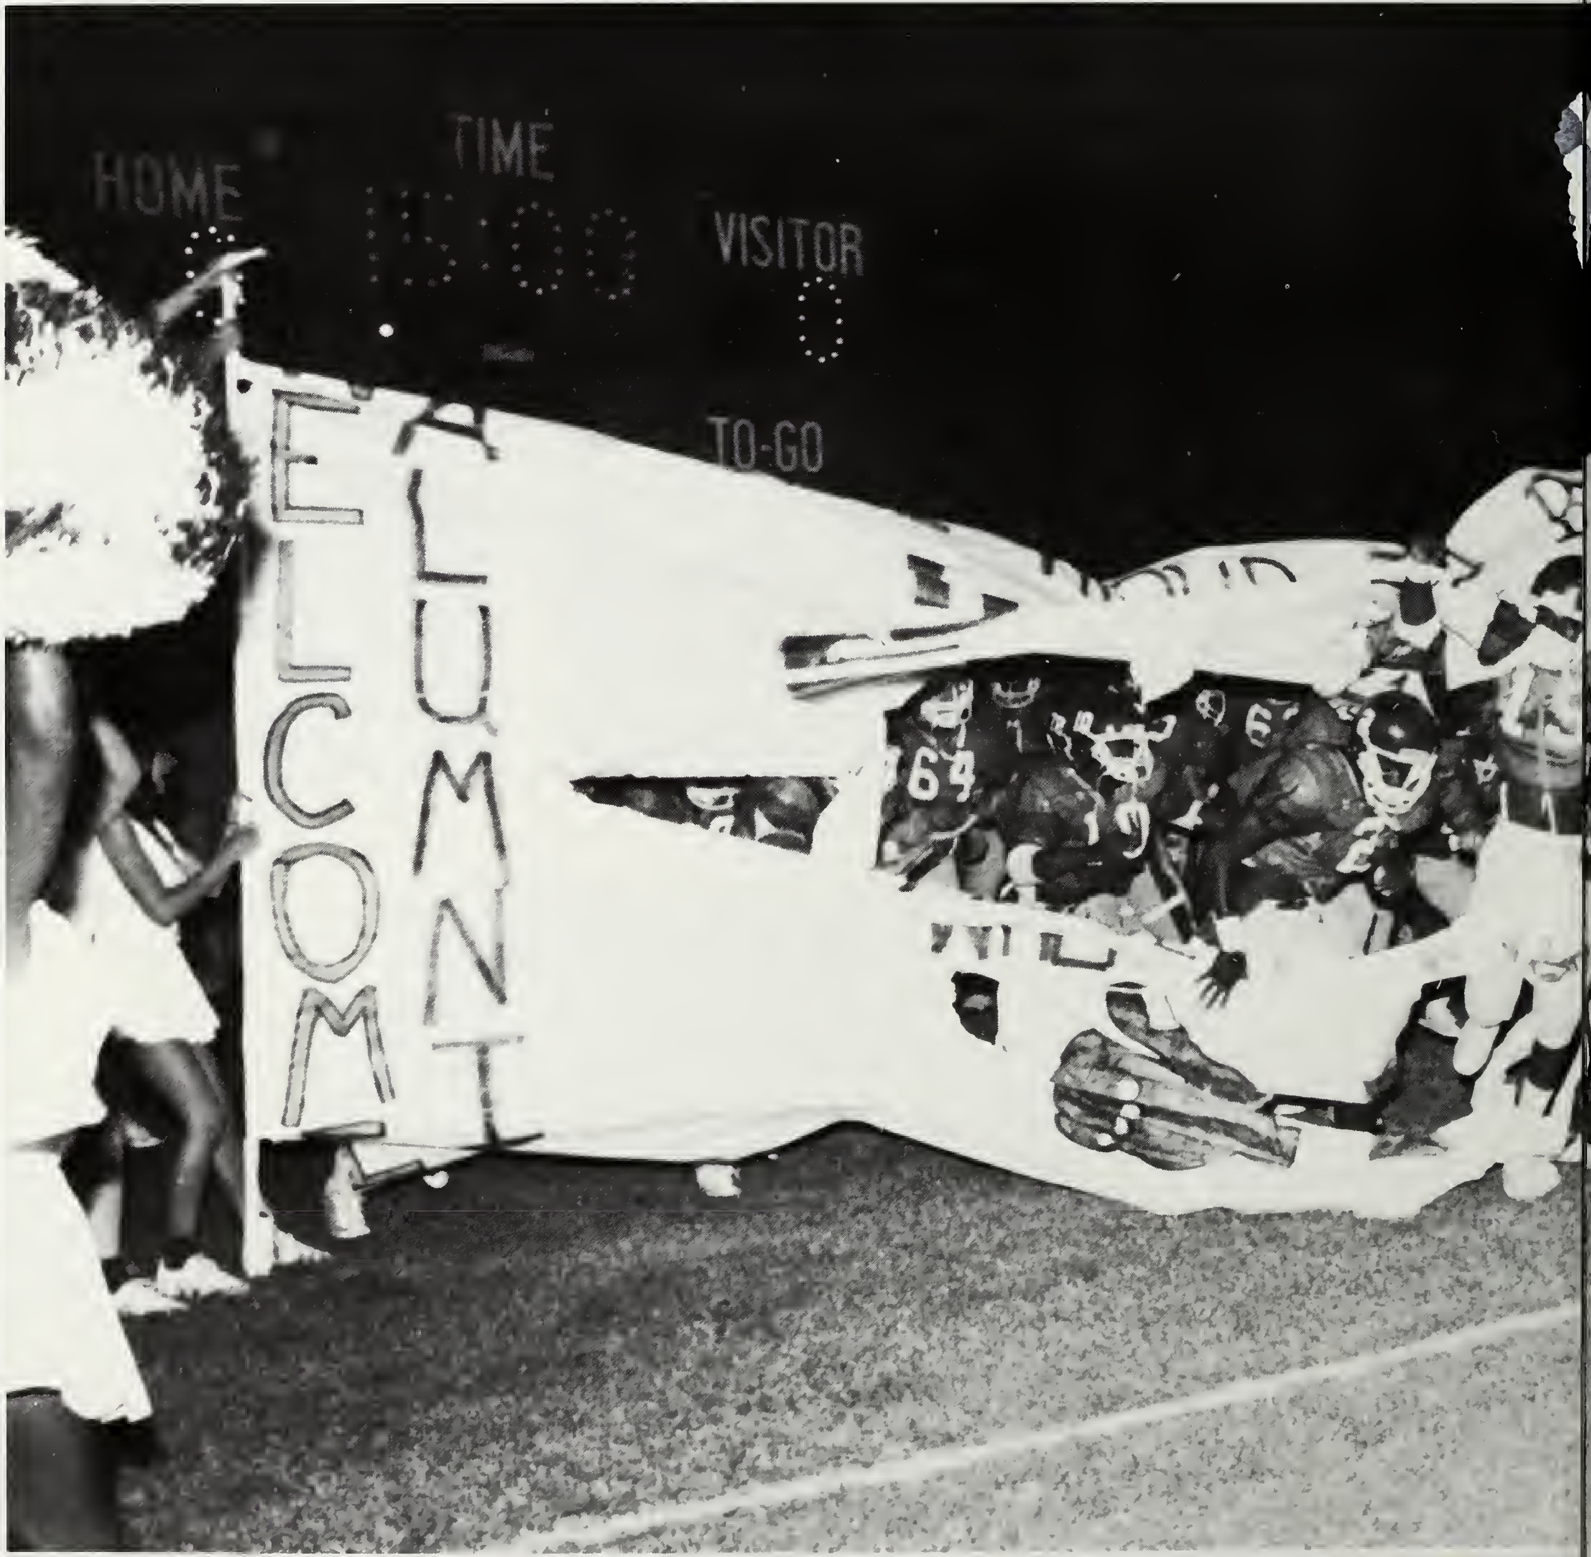
The season opener with East Central saw two touchdowns by Glenn Ivy and interceptions by Gary Sloan and Willie Johnson. Mitch Eubank threw for 172 yards, as the Indians won, 17-0.

Marvin Marsh ran 96 yards for the only touchdown against MS Delta's Trojans, as the tribe accepted a 33-7 defeat. Marsh's run, however, set a Mississippi junior college record.

The Indians suffered a sound defeat by the Copiah-Lincoln Wolves with a final score of 44-13. IJC's scoring came from a touchdown pass caught by Calvin Thompson and a touchdown run by Marsh.

East Mississippi Junior College defeated the Indians 35-21 despite a strong effort from the tribe. Marsh supplied an 80 yard touchdown run and gained 123 yards in 12 carries. Other scoring for IJC came from Ivy and Mike Smith.

The Pearl River game resulted in a heart-breaking loss which came in the final two minutes of the contest. Ivy provided two touchdowns and managed 186 yards in 17 carries, while Thompson caught his second touchdown pass of the year to help the Indian effort. A 55-yard touchdown interception by Dee Troupe added points for IJC. Eubank threw for a touchdown and 139 yards, while David Poss kicked the extra points. The good performance by IJC was not enough to sustain a win, though, as PRJC took the 34-27 victory.



A rainy, cold night was the setting for the game against the rival Northeast Tigers. The weather didn't stop the Indians, however, as they led throughout the game and won 29-14. Ivy and A.Q. Brownlee each ran for touchdowns, and Troupe kicked three extra points. Tommy Betts added a safety. Troupe blocked a punt in the end zone and Robert Joy recovered for another IJC touchdown. Troupe intercepted a pass, allowing a touchdown by Pat Smith on a pass from Eubank.

Eubank threw for 165 yards and three touchdowns and scored a touchdown to help the Indians to a 38-20 victory against the Holmes Bulldogs in Homecoming action. Ivy caught two touchdown passes and Thompson had one, as Rickey Garth also added a touchdown. Poss and Ivy kicked extra points. Mike Marshall got 26 tackles, two fumble recoveries, and an interception to lead the defensive effort, which held Holmes scoreless throughout the first half.

No game of the season saw more suspense and emotion than the battle with Gulf Coast, the #1 junior college team in the nation. Marshall intercepted a pass early in the game and ran 55 yards on a scoring drive for the Indians and Marsh added a 50-yard touchdown run. Ivy scored two touchdowns and Steve Wren managed an interception to help the Indians to an impressive 21-0 lead with 3 minutes left in the first half. The Bulldogs overpowered the tribe in the second half, however, and took an agonizing 30-21 win.

The Indians lost to the Northwest Rangers 21-19, despite a half-time lead of 7-6. Ivy scored two touchdowns for the IJC effort.

The final game of the season was played in drenching rain, with the Indians soundly defeating Coahoma, 34-7. The win was the result of a total team effort, with playing time being divided among a great number of players. Ivy got 140 yards in 16 carries, as the Indians finished the 1984 season with a 4-6 mark.

1984-85 Basketball

Indians Fall Short of Anticipated Goal

The 1984-85 Indian basketball team began the season with six returning sophomores and some excellent freshman hopefuls. Coach Wayne Newsom and his squad set a goal to win twenty games and to advance to the state and regional tournaments. Though they fell short of the twenty games, the team gained valuable experience for its freshmen and saw several of its sophomores join senior college teams.

Junior Roberson, Mickey Billingsley, John Cleveland, Glenn Johnson, Jim Weatherspoon, and Ace Pulliam returned from the previous year and led the team with valuable experience. Newsom cited five excellent freshmen who contributed considerable playing time and gave promise for the 1985-86 season.

The Indians found difficulty in handling the ball and in making free throws and suffered only minor injuries throughout the season.

Four Sophomores Lead Lady Indian Attack

Coach Max Munn and his Lady Indian Basketball Team took advantage of sophomore experience and some excellent freshman talent to complete the regular season with a 20-5 mark.

With a goal of winning all games and advancing to the North State, State, Regional, and National tournaments, the team began the season with work on play consistency and also intensity of play. Despite excellent performances by four starting sophomores and improvement throughout the season by several freshmen, the team couldn't meet its anticipated goals.

Cindy Craig, Patrice Malphus, Stephanie Davis, and Annette Jones contributed the team's major effort. Each of these expected to sign with area senior colleges. Sophomore Leigh Hood and freshmen Tracy Hamblin and Kathy Smith also saw considerable playing time.

The team's major injury came when Stephanie Davis severely sprained her ankle. Davis' play time was hampered for four games, three of which the Lady Indians lost.

1983-84 Softball

Lady Indians Win Second Place in North Division

The 1984 Lady Indian softball team took the field with high goals and expectations at the beginning of the season, but finished with a 17-17 overall record. Several weak points prevented the team from attaining its goal of winning the state and regional tournaments, though they took second place in the conference with a record of 12-4.

Coaches Max Munn and Linda Partlow felt the season could have been better with more consistency in defense, hitting, and team play and desire. However, several key players enhanced the team's performance. Beth Ramage, sophomore, played well at any position. She achieved All-State standing and went on to join the Mississippi University for Women softball team. A freshman pitcher, Renea Hester was a tremendous defensive player with strong dedication and desire. She was also awarded All-State honors. Evette Kelly, freshman, was awarded Most Valuable Player, All-State, and All-Region recognition. Though she played first base, Kelly was a total player and displayed a great deal of desire and sacrifice.

1984 Spring Baseball
"A Rebuilding Year"

At the beginning of 1984, Coach Roy Cresap and his baseball team set a goal to win twenty games in the spring season. With one sophomore starting at first base and only two returning sophomore pitchers, it seemed like a high goal for this inexperienced team. It was to be a "rebuilding year" in Cresap's words, and he looked to improve the team's weak spot which was pitching depth.

However, with a strong hitting department, the Indian team, composed of mostly freshmen, pulled through with exactly 20 wins — and 23 losses. Although they missed a winning season by just a few games, the team gained valuable experience for its freshmen and improvement for its sophomores, some of whom went on to play baseball with area senior colleges.

Indians Improve Despite Season Plagued By Rain

The fall baseball team appeared strong at the beginning of the season with several returning sophomores, but was only able to test its skills in 8 of the 14 scheduled games. Six games were rained out, and the Indians finished with a 3-5 mark for the fall season.

The Indians split doubleheaders with East Mississippi and Brewer State and lost two to Delta State. The season's highlight came with a 5-3 win against the Ole Miss Rebels.

Cresap felt that the team improved greatly from the previous year, especially in the pitching area. The Indians also played exceptional defense at times and promised to be an even better team for the following spring season.

1983-84 Tennis Season Best in IJC History

The 1983-84 tennis season proved to be the most successful tennis year in IJC's history. Coaches Linda Partlow and Paul Johnson led the teams through the state, regional, and national tournaments despite a major problem of inexperience.

The men's team, coached by Paul Johnson, was predominantly a freshman squad, but they set a goal to win the state tournament and participate in the national tournament in Ocala, Florida. Key players Scott Lee and David Duke led the men's squad to winning the second place title in the state and region, having gone undefeated in regular season play. Neither Lee nor Duke lost a set during the regular season.

Linda Partlow, women's coach, felt extremely proud of the team, which at times played well above its means in her opinion. A few minor injuries were the only problems the team faced, and they swept through regular season play with a record of 6-3-2. With the strength of players Carla Brangenberg and Beverly Harrison, the team almost reached its goal of winning the state tournament. Under tremendous pressure, the IJC squad was in contention for the title until the very last match but finished second. Harrison was state champion in her division, having won every match against Mississippi opponents.

Benjamin: Proud of Quality Education at IJC

In his thirteen years as president of IJC, Dr. W. O. Benjamin has seen the college grow, not only in size, but in the quality of education it offers.

Benjamin obtained his Bachelor of Arts in education degree, Master of Education in school administration, Master of Science, and Doctorate of Education from the University of Mississippi. Prior to serving IJC as its third president, he taught junior high and high school science, and served as elementary, junior high, and high school principal and assistant superintendent of schools. His wife, the former Doris Sneed, is Coordinator of Library Services on both Fulton and Tupelo campuses. Their only son, Kent, resides in Austin, Texas.

Benjamin is very proud of the quality education that IJC offers. He said, ''Students are fortunate in that they are able to enroll in programs with the best reputations — not only in Mississippi, but in the Southeast.''

He said he was very pleased with the variety of programs IJC offers. ''We are proud to have the only Robotics Technology and Laser-Optics Technology programs in the state.''

With a man like Dr. Benjamin as its leader, IJC will continue to grow in the number, variety, and quality of its programs.

Dr. Benjamin greets Alumnus of the Year, Zack Stewart, at the Homecoming reception.

"You Gotta Love the Game"

Sophomores David Duke and Scott Lee have brought a great deal of recognition to the tennis program at IJC.

David Duke, 19, won the first division state singles in 1984. He has been playing the game for about 10 years.

Scott, Lee, 22, placed second in the first division state singles and was undefeated in regular season play for 1984.

During the 1984 season at IJC, neither player lost a set in singles or doubles competition until the state playoffs. Both attribute their success to many hours of practice and a genuine love for the game.

Under the direction of Coach Paul Johnson, IJC's tennis team is currently ranked second in the state.

Foundations of Education — "First Hand Experience"

IJC's education majors have a unique opportunity to find out "what it's all about" through the Foundation of Education class, taught by Mrs. Gwen Boggs.

An average of 30 students per semester enroll in the class, which is required of all education majors before they transfer to senior colleges. Each student is assigned an elementary, jr. high, or high school class in his area to observe the teacher and aid the students.

Alisa Sides, a sophomore at IJC, meets with a third grade class at Fulton Grammar School two days a week. She says, "It's fun because you get to know the kids. It's first-hand experience, and it lets you know whether or not you want to be a teacher."

Larry Upton Excels Despite Handicap

On May 28, 1975, a tragic incident occurred in the life of one of IJC's students. This was the day that Larry Upton was injured in a diving accident which confined him to a wheelchair. Although this prevented Larry from completing his high school education, he received his diploma by GED. As a business major, he has maintained a 4.0 GPA each semester he has attended IJC, which is a very difficult task because all his tests are given orally since he is unable to write. Larry's IJC activities include membership in both Alpha Beta Gamma and Phi Theta Kappa. Perhaps Larry's most admired characteristic, however, is his friendly personality and pleasant smile which never fails to brighten the lives of everyone at IJC.

Foreign Student is Unique at IJC

Itawamba Junior College consists of students with many different backgrounds. One student, however, has a very unique background. Yohanna Ankkari is originally from Lohja, Finland, and lived in Loppi, Finland, until about a year ago. While her parents still live in Finland, she now resides with Mr. and Mrs. David Cornelius, her host parents, of Tupelo. Because she has traveled abroad extensively, Yohanna is capable of speaking Finnish, English, German, Swedish, and French. She has said that she likes northeast Mississippi very much; and, in her opinion, people are basically the same all over the world.

Tracey Proves To Be A Winner

Tracey Hamblin is a very unique individual and one that IJC and the Lady Indians basketball team are proud to have. Tracey was born with a heredity condition of nerve deafness because of which she attended Magnolia Speech School for the Deaf at Jackson from the age of four until the age of nine. At this time, however, Tracey began attending Calhoun Academy which caused no problems with the support of family and friends. In fact, she not only excelled scholastically, but she also became interested in basketball. This interest proved to be rewarding because she now plays forward for the Lady Indians' basketball team. It is unanimous among her teammates that she is a very talented player and that the team would not function as easily without her.

Culmination: Reaching A Milestone

Once final exams are over, graduation exercises have been conducted, and goodbyes are said, another phase of our lives has passed, and we are ready to build for tomorrow.

Looking to the Future:

Fulton Campus Modernizes

A $750,000 project designed to modernize sports facilities and expand the range of sports programs began this year on the Fulton campus.

The entire project should be complete within five years, with the new baseball stadium being the first phase of construction. The new field was completed for the latter part of the 1985 spring season.

Construction on the largest portion of the project, an athletic complex with a seating capacity of 3,000-3,500, is also underway. The stadium will include a lighted regulation football field, concession stand, and field house for the 1985 season, but will gradually be expanded to become a comprehensive athletic complex.

IJC Sports Program

IJC officials plan to implement soccer into the sports program by incorporating a regulation soccer field into the football facility in the future. This is, however, a long-range goal and will be completed after the baseball and football facilities are in use.

A six-lane metric track will also be added to the football stadium to provide a site for IJC and area high schools to hold track meets. Constructed of a modern synthetic material, the track is one of the final phases of construction planned for the stadium.

Planners hope that the soccer field and track will expand opportunities for students to participate in sports.

Tupelo Campus

Modern Technology For The '80s

For several years, Itawamba Junior College has used the slogan, "The College of the Future That's Here Today".

In the sophisticated technology of the '80s, the phrase is so true.

With the addition of laser/electro-optics and robotics to the curriculum, IJC is the first in the state and one of very few institutions in the United States to offer these ultra-modern technologies.

A new IBM System 38 multi-user computer will give data processing students a whole new experience in computing and technology.

Additions of PCs to industrial electricity, CNC equipment to tool and die, and CAD/CAM stations to drafting and design will enable students to enter the technologies of the future.

And, exciting changes are being planned for the many other programs offered on the Tupelo Campus. Moving, changing, growing, progressing . . . signs of the future at IJC . . . The College of the Future That's Here TODAY.

Editor's Closing

The position of Mirror Editor has involved much, much more than I ever imagined when I applied for the job. With a less-than-diligent staff, it has become the most demanding endeavor of my life — no day has passed since last summer that I haven't thought about what needed to be done next on the yearbook. But, on the whole, it was a terrific learning experience because I not only got to know MANY, MANY new people, but also learned a lot about IJC, too.

I'd like to use this space to give my personal thanks to some of the people who helped with the 1985 Mirror. If it is a success, much credit goes to Sandra Bailey, Assistant Editor, for actually completing her assigned pages; to Duane Greer, David Senter, and Mark McTune for their help with photography; to Sonja Benefield for after-hours work in the darkroom; to everyone in the Publications office for their patience and support; and to Rick Webb and Dave's Camera Center for superior color photography. I'd also like to thank my family, for pushing me to get to work and for listening to my gripes.

The 1985 Mirror was designed to be a history of your year at IJC; I hope that when you look at this book in years to come, all the pictures, scores, facts, and figures will bring back your greatest memories of IJC.

Betsy Rushing
1985 Mirror Editor
